Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Art Unit: 1722

1. Claims 4-9 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from another multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims have not been further treated on the merits.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, lines 13-14, "said two sets of split nuts" lacks proper antecedent basis in the claim, and therefore renders the claims indefinite as to the scope of the claims since it is unclear whether the claims require more than one pair of split nuts (especially considering the recitation at the last line of the claim that a single "tie bar" is held). Claim 1 is further indefinite as to whether the "common driving means" of lines 15-16 are electric driving means, or whether "electric" in the claim preamble refers to another electric feature of the claimed device.

In claim 2, it is unclear how the "motor" of line 4 relates to the "common driving means" of claim 1.

In claim 3, lines 5-6, "the left and right split nuts" lacks proper antecedent basis in the claims.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japan 8-323766 in view of either Eggenberger et al. (U.S. Patent 3,729,283; Figure 2) or Japan 8-276475.

Japan 8-323766 discloses an electric split nut opening/closing device in a mold clamping apparatus substantially as claimed, except for common driving means for opening and closing two sets of half nuts at the same time. Each of Eggenberger et al. and Japan 8-276475 disclose a split nut opening/closing device in a mold clamping apparatus including common driving means for opening and closing two sets of half nuts at the same time, including a guide box and link plate link mechanisms. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Japan '8-323766 by providing common driving means for opening and closing two sets of half nuts at the same time, as disclosed in either Eggenberger et al. or Japan 8-276475, in order to assure simultaneous split nut closure for all of the tie bars, and in order to improve efficiency by requiring a single motor to open and close all of the split nuts.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
